Simondetti, editor of El Diario, one of the leading newspapers of Mexico, who is visiting New York. He places the responsibility for the demonstrations entirely upon students and said tonight that he feels there has been no ill-feeling shown towards Americans of yesterday's riotous demonstrations against Americans and resulted in a day of comparative tranquillity. An attempt by the demonstrators to gather late today in the neighborhood of the New National theater was discouraged by the mounted police, who kept the crowds moving.

Purely Sporadic Demonstration.

"I feel sure that the present demonstration is purely sporadic and was entirely the outcome of the unfortunate Rodriguez affair in Texas," said Mr. Simondetti. "The rioting, I am

McKeever, N. Y., Nov. 10.—The next governor of New York would be glad to forget for ten days that there has been an election and that new responsibilities await him. He wants only to lounge, eat and sleep. He is making no social engagements and his only public appearance between now and January 1, 1911, the day of his inauguration, will probably be the dinner of his college fraternity at the Hotel Astor, in New York, on December 16.

But Mr. Dix has been followed even to his camp by a stream of letters and telegrams of congratulation. He is doing the best he can to give each an individual answer but the task seems well nigh impossible. Moreover, he feels that he will need every minute between now and the new year to set his house in order and prepare to give himself over wholly to the people who have put their trust in him. Mr. Dix puttered about his lodge this morning, and this afternoon he took a long walk through the dripping woods. Tonight he sat before a roaring fire, with half the town of Me-Keever—some fifty families—about him, and sang old songs with them to the guitar. Albert C. Bostwick of New York, a well to do manufacturer, who owns a camp at Eisky Lake nearby, furnished the accompaniments.

Tomorrow he may walk over to Boonville and drop in on a democratic jubilation meeting to be held there. If
